

TOC Entry

A membrane mimetic was developed to recreate permeability properties of a cellular membrane, including a computational molecular dynamics model that reproduces experimental result in such mimetic.